Amazing Musical Journeys with Andrew Ford

The Symphony

21 June 2009

A day of music in Robertson

Amazing Musical Journeys

with Andrew Ford

The Symphony

A one-day workshop for music lovers
- open your ears to classical music

Right in the middle of Handel's famous Messiah, there's a 'Pastoral Symphony'. It lasts just one minute and depicts the shepherds in the Nativity story. Sixty-six years later, Beethoven composed his Pastoral Symphony. It lasts about 40 minutes. Eighty-five years on, Gustav Mahler started work on his Symphony No 3 - a pastoral symphony in all but name, which plays for very nearly 100 minutes! If a symphony can go from one minute to a hundred in just a century and half, then what exactly is a symphony?

In this day-long workshop, composer and broadcaster Andrew Ford takes us exploring in an attempt to answer this question and others. What exactly do we mean by classical music? Why do people still bother with it? How can we learn to listen to it better? Andrew's talk will be liberally illustrated with music by Handel, Haydn, Beethoven, Berlioz, Mahler, Vaughan Williams, Stravinsky, Webern and (possibly) himself.
